ROMULUS—The Romulus Township Building Authority has authorized an advertisement for construction and bond sale bids to construct the initial phases of Romulus Township's new Municipal Complex.

The Building Authority, created by special township ordinance and approved by the state, will be operated by the Municipal Building Complex to be built on a 16-acre land parcel, located on the southeast corner of Wayne and Goddard Roads.

Deadline for submission of sealed construction proposals is 3 p.m. Dec. 18, Howard Dubisky, chairman of the Building Authority, announced.

BIDS ARE to be sent to the office of Alfred J. Perry, township clerk, at Romulus Township Hall, located at 36572 Goddard Road.

Deadline for submission of Bond Sale bids is Dec. 22.

An application file by the Romulus Building Authority for approval of a $1,975,000 bond issue to finance costs was approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission some weeks ago.

Last week, Township Supervisor Roderick E. Smith disclosed that the Building Authority received a "firm offer" to purchase the total bond issue.

THIS OFFER was made by the Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit.

The bank's offer was revealed at recent meeting of bank, Township and Building Authority officials held at the Romulus Branch of the Manufacturers National Bank.

Under present statutes it is mandatory to advertise for construction and bond sale when the entire project is completed it will consist of a four-building civic center that will also embrace a police headquarters and a community center.

A Towns Square and Recreation and Sports Center is also programmed for the complex.

SMITH STATED that he expects construction of the long-awaited Municipal Building facilities to begin within 90 days.

Members of the Romulus Building Authority are Howard Dubisky, operator of the F and M Market, Romulus, chairman; Edmund L. Galazka, manager of the Romulus Branch of the National Bank of Detroit; Leo M. Kalota, second vice-president and manager of the Romulus Branch of the Manufacturers National Bank.

Candy Sale Helpers Presented Thanks

ROMULUS—The Romulus Kiwanis Club and Romulus Jaycees held "tremendously" in making recent "Trick or Treat" Candy Sales a big success in the Romulus area.

The proceeds of the candy sale went to support the Michigan Kidney Foundations' 19 drug banks throughout the state.

The Foundation helps with nephrosis, nephritis and kidney transplants by supplying the high cost drugs they need to help sustain life.

Representing the Kiwanis was Alfred J. Perry, township clerk, and for the Jaycees, Gordon Silvey led the way.

OTHER TOP salesmen in the area were: Art Wood, Mrs. Warren Kautz, Mrs. Blanche Nettle, Mrs. James C. Stewart, Jack Tumble, Charles Bradley, Max Baker, Mrs. Virgil Lawyer, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Gary Zimmerman, and Mrs. Richard Chandler.

"We would like to thank these people and many others in the area who helped by selling the candy and by their candy purchases. Their great effort helped fight kidney disease and gave many people the opportunity to live a longer life," Mr. and Mrs. John L. Johnson area Chairman for Michigan Kidney Foundation, stated.

BEFORE FINAL ACTION

Hunting Ban Hearing Views Under Study

ROMULUS—A public hearing on the adoption by Romulus Township's Board of Trustees of a No Hunting Ban attracted some 55 persons last Friday night, Nov. 21. The hearing was held in the gymnasium of the Romulus Senior High School.

State Representative Edward E. Mahalak, chaired the meeting conducted by township administrators and representatives of the State Conservation Department and the Ypsilanti Post of the State Police.

The officials heard the "pros and cons" submitted by township residents and will now make further study.

TOWNSHIP SUPERVISOR Roderick E. Smith, stated that the views aired at the meeting will be presented to a study committee with instructions to make recommendations for Township Board action.

The no hunting ban has been suggested because of the numerous complaints by residents, Mahalak reported.

"In the five years I have been in the Legislature and during the 10 years in which I served as Justice of the Peace in Romulus, I have heard numerous complaints about hunting in the township.

"We have reached a point now where we Romulus Township residents must make a decision on whether we want hunting to continue in the Township. This hearing is for this purpose.

AMONG THOSE who objected to the no hunting ban reported to be patterned after a pending House Bill No. 2522 was Romulus Trustee James C. Stewart. Others raised various objections but many others were in favor of the ban.

Officials at the hearing besides Rep. Mahalak and Supervisor Smith were: Alfred J. Perry, township clerk; Ellis T. Pennington and James C. Stewart, township trustees; George Bruse, district law supervisor of the State Conservation Department; and C.A. Walter, assistant post commander of the Ypsilanti Post of the State Police.

The study committee will be composed of representatives of the State Police, Wayne County Sheriff Office, State Conservation Department and Supervisor Smith.

County, Airlines Meet On Pollution Problem

ROMULUS—Representatives of the Air Transport Association (ATA) reported no immediate solution for pollution caused by planes using facilities at Metro Airport at a meeting last week with Wayne County Air Pollution Control Division director.

Airline representatives met with Morton Sterling, head of the county pollution control agency, who reported after the meeting that he is satisfied that the airlines are making a "good faith effort."

The meeting was called by Sterling to discuss the estimated 26 tons of pollutants dropped each day on the Airport location.

LAST MONTH six airlines: United, Northwest Orient, North Central, American, TWA and Delta for pollution violations.

County investigators charged that their planes emitted dense smoke, especially on take-offs. ATA representatives declined comment after the two-hour meeting.

Sterling reported that the representatives who appeared for the six airlines discussed possible approaches, planned to eliminate most of the pollution problem by the mid-1970's.

STERLING ANNOUNCED that if satisfactory progress is not made with the ATA representatives that he will insist on dealing directly with the airlines cited.

It was stated earlier by one ATA branch that the airlines favor of a program of engine replacement after they wear out with new improved engines.

Romulus Telephone Exchange to Expand

ROMULUS—The Romulus Telephone Exchange Building, located at 33555 Eureka Road, is to be enlarged.

Plans for a proposed $278,000 addition to present facilities to accommodate new telephone switching equipment to handle increased phone service demand in the township have been filed with the Romulus Building Department.

It was noted by Sterling that the average engine lasts five years and added that he wasn't sure that the county would accept natural retirement.

AS LONG as the airlines negotiate in good faith and show reasonable progress, he (Sterling) stated that he has ruled out court action that could cost the airlines $100 a day for each day of continued violation.

Another meeting is planned for next month on the pollution problem.

Joseph B. Gallagher, department manager, announced that the plans were approved.

The Romulus Water Department and Township Engineers, Wade and Trim, have yet to check and approve proposed building expansion, before the issuance of a building permit. The addition is to be of one-story in height and 131 by 52 feet in size.

The school's purpose is to teach the principles of traffic, safety, safe driving techniques, the updating of the student's knowledge of traffic laws, and the improvement of driver attitude and behavior.

State Lawmaker Proposes New Mobile Park Laws

CANTON—State Rep. Vincent Pettipren (D-37) spoke to approximately 70 persons at Canton Township Hall last week concerning his efforts to secure mobile park legislation at the state level. Speaking to the Canton Mobile Village group that is proposing ordinance amendments in Canton Township, Pettipren outlined his three-pronged approach. "We need legislation at the state level that would bring current parks up to date. Mobile home parks are not currently under the tenant's rights act and we need to include them," the active legislator explained.

"Secondly, we need to set new guidelines for trailer parks, and thirdly, we also want to study the possibility of creating co-operative mobile home sites in which a family could own their own parcel of land as well as the mobile home itself."

Pettipren cited California and Florida as being very advanced in trailer park ordinances and said he hoped for immediate improvements in Michigan's laws.

The veteran lawmaker was invited to the meeting by Louis Nigro, president of Canton Mobile Village Homeowners' Association, who presented four ordinance amendments before the Canton Township Board of Trustees for that body's consideration. The board said they would reply to the group's request after they had a chance to study the proposals.

Do Your Thing This Christmas - Give

ROMULUS—The Thanksgiving and Christmas Holiday Season is fast approaching.

Individuals and various organizations are busy preparing and making big plans to give.

Hundreds of baskets will be prepared and given to needy families throughout the country, but should giving really begin and end here?

WHAT REALLY happens to a needy family after the holidays? For example, the father is unemployed because the lack of a skill trade, there are several children in school and one eager to go to college, but cannot because of financial reasons; or a student that could not attend the senior trip because of the fee involved.

Wouldn't you like to give some of your time to help open doors that are closed to the unemployed, or give job training to the unskilled?

If you are one who would like to give a gift of opportunity so that a child won't be deprived of any educational advancement and school activities or if you are an employer or a person who feels qualified to give the unemployed worker job training, "DO YOUR THING AND-GIVE."

Please feel free to contact the Romulus Neighborhood Action Center, 35351 Beverly Road, Wayne, or call 729-2850 or 729-2853.

The Great blue heron will stand absolutely still for minutes at a time hoping to grab an unsuspecting fish.

VOLUNTEERS HAILED

30 Students Praise Sewing Projects

ROMULUS—There are thirty girls at St. Aloysius School, 37200 Neville, who look forward to Mondays and Fridays for reasons other than the beginning and ending of another week.

Mondays and Fridays are the days for their sewing projects and the enthusiasm of the girls is obvious. Their remarks concerning their activities and the helpers who donate their time to instruct are revealing.

"It really helps," said Theresa Perry, "because we didn't know anything about sewing until they came." "They help us," she said, "and make sure everyone gets to do something."

KAREN LATOSKI, who is working on a poncho with ball fringe trim said, "I think it's really great. They take the time to make sure we really understand. They tell us about our problems and help us work them out."

Kim Randles thinks it's very nice to have a sewing group. "We ask them how to put things together and they show us. I've started on some bell bottoms at home and I'm working on a jumper."

"We would not have had any sewing at all until we got into Junior High if it weren't for their coming and helping us," said one of the girls.

WHO ARE "they"? They are Mrs. William Pritula and Mrs. June Blanton who spend a lot of time planning for and working with the girls.

These ladies are also active in the Helping Hand Thrift Shop with Mrs. Florence Klein, director, and are accustomed to tackling a job with directness and simplicity.

When a need presents itself to these ladies, they begin without doubts or reservations to do something about it. Mrs. Pritula, whose children attend public schools and who is of Greek Orthodox faith, loves working with the girls and the love is mutual.

Mrs. June Blanton, who is a member of the parish and whose children attend public schools, has a little less sentiment and a lot of good-humored "let's get the job done" in her attitude which inspires the girls' confidence.

THE ACTUAL sewing is done on two ancient machines which have been donated through the Thrift Shop; one is a portable that spends a lot of time on the road between the Special Service building and wherever else it's needed. The other is left at the school and while it is electric it's a relic of another era.

"Say, Mrs. Pritula," said one attractive girl, "when are we going to do some cooking?" "We sure would like to have some cooking classes," said another, "You know, the boys want a cooking class too!" someone added.

Somehow, it will be no surprise when in the future one hour a week is set aside for some good practical cooking hints and recipe swapping.

NO IMMEDIATE HALT County, Airlines Meet On Pollution Problem

ROMULUS—Representatives of the Air Transport Association (ATA) reported no immediate solution for pollution caused by planes using facilities at Metro Airport at a meeting last week with Wayne County Air Pollution Control Division director.

Airline representatives met with Morton Sterling, head of the county pollution control agency, who reported after the meeting that he is satisfied that the airlines are making a "good faith effort."

The meeting was called by Sterling to discuss the estimated 26 tons of pollutants dropped each day on the Airport location.

LAST MONTH six airlines: United, Northwest Orient, North Central, American, TWA and Delta were cited for pollution violations.

County investigators charged that their planes emitted dense smoke, especially on take-offs. ATA representatives declined comment after the two-hour meeting.

BELLEVILLE—A new operating budget for 1970 proposed by the 34th District Court calling for higher cost assessments has been approved by three of the five communities served by the court.

The communities that have accepted and formally approved the proposed budget of $105,300, up $7,494 over the current and initial budget of the court are the City of Belleville, Van Buren and Romulus Townships.

Officials of Huron and Sumpter Townships, it was reported have indicated that they would recommend adoption of the budget to their respective governing bodies.

The Board of Trustees of Huron and Sumpter Townships meet in the next few days.

THE NEW District Courts throughout the state, provided for under the new State Constitution, replaced the Justice of the Peace Courts on Jan. 1, 1969.

District Court Judge James

B. Stone stated that the 1970 budget, based on 10 months experience in operation of the new court, is a "realistic budget and each item is a 'must' in order to continue effective operation."

The proposed budget is based on necessary pay increases to maintain present court personnel, installation of a hospitalization insurance plan and to increase in normal operating expenses due to postage, telephone and telegraph, jury and witness fees.

FOLLOWING OBJECTIONS made by some area officials on their assessment costs for the court operation and unsatisfactory financial returns, Judge Stone in personal appearances before administrative staffs of communities embraced in the court's jurisdiction explained an alternate plan under which each community would be assessed by the number of cases it had in court and not on population as provided for in the current budget.

In the new budget the salary of the District Court Judge is now set at the state limit of $27,000 per year which includes $9,500 paid by the five communities.

Distribution of the 1967 budget by yearly payments compared with the previous year is as follows:

Belleville, $7,371 against $4,890.30.

Huron Township, $6,318 against $16,627.

Romulus Township, $48,438 against $37,166.

Sumpter Township, $8,424 against $14,670.

Van Buren Township, $34,749 against $24,451.

Of the $105,300 1970 budget, total wages and salaries account for $76,100.

THE 1969 budget was based on population as provided for in the state statutes setting up the District Court System. The 1970 budget is based on the percentage of business generated in each community and reviewed quarterly.

The District Court is now located in Romulus at 30240 Eureka Road.

Areas served by the court, under present arrangements are permitted to retain fines for violations of their ordinances and traffic regulations but with an additional judgment fee of $3 for reimbursement to the State and to be used by the state in operational expense of the entire District Court System.

WHEN THE violator goes to the District Court and is convicted, two thirds of his fine remains with the court and one third is refunded to the community where the violation occurred. In each case a $3 judgment fee is assessed.

All-Area Steals Defense

sophomore, the 6-4, 195-pound end also picked off three passes, returning one for a TD while on defense!

An A-minus student, Rob was also chosen to the All-Northwest Suburban Conference team.

Teammate Jinnett, also a junior, was the team's leading tackler with 96 assists and 31 solos. Another scholar-athlete, Jinnett is an all-"A" student who is quick to nab any ball carrier hopeful of yardage.

Kind, who averaged 39.4 yards for 25 punting attempts, is a versatile back who serves as a safety. College coaches have already shown interest in this 175 pound, 6 footer.

Jeff has lettered twice as a griddier, climaxing his prep career with first string league recognition as well.

Also potentially a great college prospect is Singleton, who probably is the best middle guard ever to come out of Belleville High.

A unanimous choice for All-Suburban Six Conference honors, Jim is a strong competitor who works hard at whatever he does. And he'll be playing basketball next for the Tigers, before going out for track.

Yes, he's a solid three-sports athlete!

Another "Tiger cub" who should develop into an awesome griddier is 6-2, 220-pound, 16-year-old Pellicchia. A junior who has made giant strides in his first varsity season, Pellicchia also made the grade on the All-League team.

After hanging up his grid uniform, Mark reported to the wrestling coach. He's Belleville's heavyweight candidate this season.

Hood, the mainstay of Wayne Memorial's defense and leading rusher, helped make this a winning year for the Zebras.

With great quickness, he slipped by bigger players to bring down his surprised prey.

Hood earned Wayne's distinctive award, "Head Hunter of the Week", twice-an award to the outstanding defensive player of the team.

He won All-Sauk Trail plaudits, rivals realizing that Wayne didn't look the same when this 17-year-old senior was on the sidelines.

As long as Hood was in the game, he made it tough on the foes. Again Melvindale, an undefeated team which was ranked eighth in the State Class A polls, Hood caused the Cardinals problems.

But as soon as he was injured, the Cardinals had little trouble with the senior griddier on the sidelines.

Another unsung, hero is Cherry Hill's co-captain Matt Dunsmore who specialized in cutting down his rivals with bruising tackles from a linebacker's slot.

"He's a fine football player and a real hitter," said Coach Joe LaScola. "We were in trouble this season, but I wouldn't like to think what would have happened to us without him."

Inkster's Burroughs was another smooth worker who moonlighted at cornerback when he wasn't tossing his passes and sneaking out yardage as Coach Sylvester Mosley's senior QB.

The southpaw griddier stole four interceptions, as if reading rival quarterback's mind. The QB's always had second thought, before they'd pass into Burrough's zone.

Bednerek's versatility was put to good use by East Coach Gary Humphry who plugged up troublesome spots by shifting this 6-foot-2, 195 senior into position.

A defensive end who could be counted on to turn the play from his side of the line, Bednerek could play anywhere on the line. He also did the kicking for the Panthers.

Glenn's Schleicher needs no introduction - he's made the All-Area grade as a shot-putter. An All-Northwest Suburban Conference pick on defense as well as offense, Garry handles the second cornerback chores for this year's defense.

If needed, Schleicher could also fill in as fullback, a post he ably occupied for the Rockets.

Conlin, who saw duty as a safety and an offensive end with St. Mary's, is fast and quick with the uncanny ability to be at the right spot and the right time.

Conlin, stole seven passes and took one of them in for a touchdown and he also caused three fumbles which set up other Knight TD's.

A senior who has earned varsity stripes in baseball, Conlin accounted for 29 of his team's points. He also punted for the team, finishing with a 33.2 yard average.

The Public Letter Box

TO THE EDITOR:

On Wednesday Nov. 19 a letter by Mr. Rodney Bly appeared in the public letter box. His statements about the "rape" of the school tax dollars and the "degeneration" of Van Buren Township is an indication that he is not very well informed.

The average intelligent citizen will not use the words "rape, degeneration" when he talks about other citizens. In the 25 years that I have been associated with Mobile Home people, they have never used such a poor selection of words.

In spite of the fact that surveys have been made by Professors at Michigan State University, of Michigan, Legislators in Lansing, the Macomb County Planning Committee, other surveys all over America, ALL SHOWING THAT MOBILE HOMES DO PAY A FAIR SHARE, THE THOUGHT STILL PERSISTS THAT WE DON'T. What more of an authority can we use.

IT IS public knowledge that it costs $700 per year to put a child thru school. A home valued at $20,000. brings $290 for school tax. If that home has three children in school they only pay $96.50 per child.

ARE THEY PAYING THEIR SHARE? THEY PAY WHAT THE LAW REQUIRES THEM TO PAY. WHAT GIVES THEM THE RIGHT TO CONDEMN MOBILE HOMES WHEN ALL SURVEYS INDICATE WE DO. The expansion we propose will pay $235. per year per child.

In spite of the fact that a Mobile Home Park installs and maintains all roads, water lines, sewer lines, drain lines, all rubbish disposal at absolutely no cost to the township, it will still pay $4,700 to the township and the county and not require ANY SERVICE FROM THEM. It will bring $37,300 in sewer tap fees, $4,850 per year to help pay the water debt. 310 new sites will bring over $2,000,000 per year buying power into the township.

 AMERICAN INDUSTRY has provided the American people a third choice in ways of housing. WHO HAS THE RIGHT TO DENY THESE PEOPLE THE PRIVILEGE OF LIVING THE WAY THEY WANT TO.

A Mobile Home Park is inspected annually by the Wayne County Board of Health, and monthly by the Township Building Inspector.

The basic rules of a park require that all lots be landscaped and properly kept. The people are expected to live in a respectable, law abiding manner or they are asked to move. The cost of the land, the cost of improvements, the cost of the Mobile Homes amount to almost $70,000 per acre. Would you call that "degeneration"?

Mr. Editor, I would sure hate to see what this township would be if it were not for the efforts of the men on the Planning Committee. It is a thankless task. Whether they give us zoning to expand or not, I am sure it will be based on the facts of the case and not on the NARROW MINDED, BEHIND THE TIMES THINKING OF A FEW CITIZENS WHO REFUSE TO ACCEPT THE FACTS.

 THE MOBILE HOME answers the need of the widow, the bachelor, the young married, the retiring couple, couples whose children are gone, couples with children. WHERE ARE THESE PEOPLE GOING TO LIVE? Will industry move to Van Buren Township if there is no housing for their people? IF there are no people to work in their factories?

Mr. Editor, In this modern and ever changing system we live in, we should be ready to make and accept changes that will improve our ways of living. A well run Mobile Home Park will be an asset to a community and will be better kept than some of the other parts of the township. Thank you Mr. Editor for the privilege of using the Public Letter Box. It would be nice to hear from the people who live in and enjoy mobile home living.

Thanksgiving Then and Now

Thanksgiving Day is almost here again. General observance will take place on Nov. 27.

As we sit down to our turkey or goose on this day of thanks, we should pause for a moment to visualize the first Thanksgiving of that small band of Pilgrims huddled in the forests of a bleak American wilderness on the threshold of winter.

Measured by today's affluence, comfort and expectancies, their prospects were something less than hopeless. If they became ill, they died or got well. There were no health services and no medicare or medical aid. There was no transportation. There was no handy source of supplies such as the corner supermarket. There was no benevolent board, bureau or government agency to fall back on. There were no consumer protectors.

IN SHORT, there was no succor from any direction. There was only the wilderness, the Indians and a continent full of opportunities awaiting those with enough courage and initiative to face the unknown.

Upon second thought, the Pilgrims did indeed have much for which to be thankful. As we sit down to our Thanksgiving repast, we should not only give thanks, we should ask ourselves if we are worthy of the heritage that began with the Pilgrims.

(Editor's Note: The following poem was submitted by United States Army Private First Class Leon T. Nowitzke of New Boston area who is currently on duty in Vietnam.)

WHO CARES

Take a man put him alone,
Send him 12,000 miles from home.

Make him live in sweat and mud,
Empty his heart of all his blood.

You can't know what it's like over here,
You have your parties and drink your beer.

Having a ball and half trying,
While over here men are dying.

So burn your draft cards, march till dawn,
Plant your signs on the White House lawn.

Did you think I wanted to come over here,
Leaving all my friends and living in fear.

But when I arrived and saw children crying,
Sleeping in streets, starving, and dying.

I know I had to be over here,
Or some day back home,
The same crying, I'll hear.

What's that you say, let's ban the bomb,
There's no real war in Viet Nam.

Get high on drugs, have your fun,
Think love, that's right,
Don't pick up a gun.

There's nothing, but living for you to die,
But we're suppose to die for you.

Well, I'm here and it's far too late.
I've already traded my love for hate.

For it made me hear, my buddy cry,
"Oh, Dear God, WHY."

I saw him lying, blood under his head,
Then heard them say, "This one is dead."

He had the guts to fight and die.
He paid the price, but what did he buy.

Through his dying, your life he buys.
But who cares if a Marine dies.

Maybe his family, his girl, or maybe his son.
Let's hope we're not the only ones!

Don't Freeze,
we please...

Frey's Freezer Full

OUT AT the Rawsonville Road home of Albert and Jo Frey there's a freezer full of fresh venison—the result of a hunting expedition by the two Frey men—Al and Allen. It was opening day of the season that Al bagged his trophy—a 200 pound, 11-point buck which would make any nimrod beam. Not to be outdone by his dad, 17-year-old Allen waited until the next day to get his buck—an eight pointer.

Hunting around Honor near Traverse City, the men stayed with Mrs. Frey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kirby, who live there. Also in their party were Al's twin brother, Charles Frey; his father-in-law, Earl Kirby; brother-in-law, Hugh Prince; and nephew Roger Leutheuser.

On phoning his wife to let her in on the good news, Al also said he had a new way to hunt deer from now. It seems that he was absent-mindedly rubbing a stick against a tree when his big buck ambled by to see what was going on. Simple as that!!

Others With Venison

IT WAS A 'first' this deer hunting season for Clark Miles, 15-year-old Belleville High freshman, who bagged a nice 10-point buck during the first 10 minutes of the season on opening day. Hunting with his dad, Al Miles, and brothers, John and Mark, all of 40264 Alden Drive, Belleville, the men spent three days at Luzerne near Mio. FELLOW HUNTERS for a good many years, Ray Weber, Bill Hudge, and Bert Smith, all of Belleville, and Harley Lamkin, of Willis, were joined on their venture by Kenn De Hate, from Taylor. Pitching camp at Ewen near the Porcupine Mountains, the men spent 10 days away from home and brought back an eight-point deer shot by Bill on the morning of opening day. THE TOM Johnstons, of Belleville Road, and the Clyde Theisens, of Warren, motored to the Alpena area in the Theisen's camper unit Thursday for three days of hunting. During their stay, they made their headquarters at the home of the former couple's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey. Returning home, there was a 10-point buck adorning the rooftop of that camper—the trophy being claimed by Mr. J.

WHERE DO RAISES GO?

Why isn't Mrs. Homemaker's budget easier to live with after her husband gets a salary raise? The answer, according to a survey, is that the more Americans earn, the more they spend.

Raises are spent on durable goods, or the big purchase to be paid on the installment plan, or placed in a savings account. Additional funds are not channeled into the daily budget.

HOT DOG STUFF

Hot dogs are great, plain on a bun or with catsup, mustard and relish. But when you want to be versatile with them, slit and add a stuffing before heating. What stuffing? How about cheese, pickle relishes, sauerkraut, baked beans, chili con carne, Spanish rice or chopped onions and green pepper? Try one, or better yet, try all!

for a happy Thanksgiving...

Nancy Spigarelli Is The New Mrs. Mida

In a two o'clock ceremony Saturday, November 1, Nancy Spigarelli exchanged wedding vows and rings with Robert E. Mida. The Rev.

Charles Dibley presided at the rite which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Spigarelli, of 1300 Beck Road, Plymouth, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Mida, of 44960 Robson Road, Belleville.

Arrangements of white daisies and mums adorned the altar as Nancy came up the aisle with her father. She chose for her wedding day a street-length dress of white moire silk fashioned with an A-line skirt and short sleeves. She wore a ribbon headband and carried a nosegay of white rosebuds and carnations with trailing ribbon streamers.

PATRICIA CONDASH as maid of honor wore a blue velvet jumper and white lace blouse. The nosegay she held was comprised of blue-tipped carnations.

Bill Mida was his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony a dinner was held at Vigo's, in Ypsilanti. The bridegroom's parents later entertained at a second reception for members of the immediate family at their home on Robson Road.

The newlyweds honeymooned for four days in upstate Michigan before the bridegroom returned to his naval base at Orange, Texas. His ship is presently being decommissioned. He will then be sent to Mayport, Florida to board his new ship the USS Robert E. Ware.

The bride graduated in 1967 from Plymouth High School and is currently in her junior year majoring in English literature at Eastern Michigan University. On completion of the semester she will join her husband in Jacksonville, Florida. She is also employed as Editorial Librarian at the Ypsilanti Press.

Robert is a 1965 Belleville High School alumnus now holding the rank of Boilerman Second Class in the U.S. Navy.

Mini-Cannole, an Italian dessert by Bonini Bakery, Chicago, has been introduced to retail markets in frozen form.

Prepared Foods Don't Replace The Cookbook

Boil-in-the-bag meats and vegetables and other prepared foods may have replaced hot hours in the kitchen for the modern homemaker, but they haven't eliminated her need for a good basic cookbook.

"A basic cookbook is more than a collection of standard tested recipes," says Anita Dean, Michigan State University extension food specialist. "It serves as a dictionary and encyclopedia to which you can turn again and again for answers to your questions about food; whether it be meal planning, buying, preparation, storage, meal service or nutrition."

Because cookbooks are bountiful on the merchants' shelves, Mrs. Dean suggests these guidelines for selecting one to suit your needs.

"First, does the cookbook cover all categories of cooking from appetizers to desserts, or does it specialize in just one thing as meats? A good basic cookbook offers a balanced selection of recipes for help in preparing all kinds of goods."

The author is also a clue to a book's quality. Was it written by an authority in foods and nutrition? Is the information unbiased? Are specific brands and products promoted in it? -- this may limit its use.

How is the cookbook organized? According to Mrs. Dean, "in addition to the table of contents, it should have a detailed and extensive index so that you can locate recipes quickly."

"Some cookbooks," she notes, "are arranged by menu. This often makes it difficult to locate a favorite recipe or to compare ingredients and recipes at a glance."

The format of the recipe is important, too. Ingredients should be listed first, followed by step-by-step procedures.

Also check to see that the number of servings is given as well as pan sizes and oven temperatures.

For new cooks, Mrs. Dean recommends an illustrated cookbook. "This often helps depict the step-by-step procedures and gives an indication of what the finished dish should look like. Pictures often suggest attractive food and table arrangements as well."

The amount of additional information a book provides is also a factor in selection. Descriptions of measuring techniques, tables of ingredients substitutions, definitions of common cookery terms, buying and storing tips, basic principles of cookery and reasons for failures all increase the value of a basic cookbook, the specialist concludes.

WORK FOR SQUAWS?

Even American Indians made a primitive form of sausage. Chopped, dried meat was combined with dry berries, then pressed into a cake to eat when fresh meat was scarce.

Huron Valley 4-H Notes

NEW BOSTON—New leaders, new members, new officers and new ideas were introduced at the first monthly meeting of the Huron Valley 4-H Club.

This year it was decided to divide the riding meets into two groups: the thirteen-year-olds and under, and the fourteen-year-olds and older. This way, it is hoped, that everyone will reach their goals for this 4-H year.

The club has two new horse leaders this year: Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith. They will work with the thirteen-year-olds and younger. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell will work with the fourteen-year-olds and older. They will also lead a new project this year called "Horse Science".

Mrs. Robert Haener will be the club organizational leader again this year. Mrs. Nicholas Petri, Jr., will lead sewing this year again; and Mrs. Charles Phipps will also lead Liquid Embroidery again this year.

Their primary goal was to provide ideas about various educational programs in the State, so that other school systems might develop such programs if they were adaptable to their area.

The Van Buren Title 1 Project utilized Behavior Modification as the motivating factor to improve reading skills and social behavior. It was also used as the component to increase Student Self-Responsibility.

PCHA Unit to House Child Guidance Clinic

WAYNE—A hospital-based child guidance clinic will be established at Seaway Hospital, a unit of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA).

First of its kind in this section of Michigan, the decision to house the Downriver Child Guidance Clinic at Seaway was made at the November meeting of the PCHA Board of Directors. Only one other similarly hospital-related clinic exists in the State.

Recommendation to the PCHA directors that $16,000 be appropriated to convert space at Seaway to offices for the clinic was moved by Kenneth L. Murray of Westland and supported by John Trellay of Trenton.

"IT IS hard to be anything less than thrilled by the unanimous decision by the directors to co-operate with the Downriver Child Guidance Clinic in this project," said Donald J. Pizzimenti, PCHA chairman. Pizzimenti called the action "a vital step in the direction of providing comprehensive health care for PCHA communities."

John S. Reynolds, director of the Downriver Child Guidance Clinic, said he believed locating the clinic at Seaway would now make it possible to provide fuller and more efficient service to parents and their children.

"NOT ONLY will the new location be more convenient, but we may in time be able to provide 24-hour consultation service," he said.

Reynolds said that the Clinic presently services between 900 and 1,000 children yearly who suffer from such emotional and behavioral problems as drug addiction, delinquency and truancy.

In addition to those actually seen at the clinic, he revealed that as many as 700 other children are helped by special conferences with school officials and clinical psychologists.

Although housed at Seaway, the Clinic will continue to provide its own operating funds and staff, which includes eleven specialists such as psychiatrists, psychologists, clinical social workers and clinical psychologists.

THE CLINIC also maintains affiliation with the graduate schools of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

"Not only will Seaway Hospital provide us with invaluable professional atmosphere, but we should now have more direct access to pediatricians and family physicians in our work with children in the area," said Reynolds.

Supporting the move Trellay expressed gratitude to PCHA directors, particularly to Murray, director from Westland. "Once again," said Trellay, "the men and women responsible for the policies of PCHA have demonstrated an uncommon and unselfish concern for fellow participating communities in the Authority. We in the downriver area are deeply grateful."

Mrs. C. Borden Chase of Ann Arbor and the Washtenaw County Republican Committee are co-hosts for the session.

Do You Want A Home?

ROMULUS—The Regency Home Builders has a limited number of three and four bedroom homes available to Romulus residents under a special program known as Section 235. They are to be built in the Urban Renewal Area.

Section 235 is a program promoting homeownership for lower income families by providing assistance in reducing interest costs on single family homes to as low as one percent if the homebuyer cannot afford mortgage payments with 20 percent of his income.

This program is especially useful to families whose income is too high to move into public housing, but not high enough to afford a new home because of the present interest rate.

REGENCY HOMES has applied for and received a commitment from the FHA to build homes under this program in Romulus Township. It is up to the residents to take advantage of this opportunity while it is available.

If you know you need a home but feel you can't afford one because of the number of dependents, or your income, you should check into this program for details right away. Call 255-2264 for more information on these homes.

Warren Whitman, president of Regency Homes will be at the Urban Renewal Office, Tuesdays and Thursday from 12 Noon to 3 p.m.

Call the above phone number to make your appointment to talk to him.

OVER $42 MILLION

Grant Approved for Pollution Control

Formal approval of a $42,096,000 grant for Detroit's regional pollution control program has been announced by Federal and State officials.

The grant will be applied to $80 million worth of construction to improve Detroit Metropolitan Water Services' sewage treatment plant and to expand the DMWS sewage disposal system further into Macomb and Oakland Counties, General Manager, Gerald J. Remus said. Contracts for this construction must be awarded by Dec. 31 to meet state requirements.

DMWS WILL furnish the remaining funds from sewage treatment revenue. Immediately after the 1969 contracts are underway the Department will start another $79 million worth of construction to complete treatment plant improvements by the end of 1970, using additional State-Federal grants and revenue from a new sewage disposal rate increase.

"The $42.1 million grant amounts to the first, formal Federal-State approval of DMWS's regional program, and this of course approves the total $159,000,000 effort," Remus said.

DMWS now furnishes sewage disposal service to Detroit and 55 suburban communities. Contracts are in effect with another 16 communities in Macomb and Oakland counties for sewage disposal service as soon as interceptors under construction are finished.

"Improvements to the sewage treatment plant at 9300 West Jefferson will bring us up to water quality standards to protect the Detroit River and Lake Erie which we agreed to meet in 1966," said Remus. These standards require removal of 80-95 percent of most pollutants, in accordance with the contract signed by Detroit and the State Water Resources Commission.

DMWS is already into the first construction phase of a regional program expected to cost well over $1 billion during the next 30 years.

Future projects will expand the system into newly developing areas and will expand capacity at the sewage treatment plant to cope with the new service areas.

THE PROGRAM was prepared three years ago following recommendations by the National Sanitation Foundation that DMWS undertake regional sewage disposal on a region-wide basis, and following its agreement to state stipulations regarding sewage treatment standards.

"Progress has been made in that $17,000,000 has been expended and about $12,000,000 of work is under way, and we will get matching funds for these expenditures also," Remus said.

"Improvements on the river is apparent now, in that grease has been reduced 90 percent, bacteria kill is close to the state standard, and by March, 1970 we will have reduced phosphate 80 percent.

"THE FUNDS now made available, will make it possible for us to make a real onslaught on the remaining wastes, such as solids, BOD loading, phenols, and other contaminants, as well as an orderly expansion of system."

To expedite this year's $80 million program, DMWS will send Detroit Common Council formal grant forms for final action as soon as they're received. "Bids will be opened almost daily for the next few weeks. Low bids will be sent over as frequently for Common Council approval," Remus said.

With St. Mary's of Wayne and New Boston Huron taking the first steps and a flock of others quickly following, prep athletes return to the "Land of the Giants" this week in hopes of finding basketball laurels and titles.

Whether they'll regret taking those steps, or whether they'll find the land of the giants fruitful only time will tell.

St. Mary's, under veteran Coach Manny Lentine, begins its search for the Southwest Division championship Friday night with League rival, St. Thomas of Ann Arbor as its first test.

The game is scheduled to be played at Marshall Junior High School. Tip-off is at 8 p.m. for the Varsity and 6:45 for the Junior Varsity Unit.

New Boston Huron also begins its quest for conference honors, but Coach David Court will have a chance to tune up for the second year conference championship with a nonleague match.

Toledo will be in town Friday night to take on the Chiefs who are expected to be a much improved team with veteran 6-6 pivotman Rick Wasilewski around to lead them.

Six other area teams join the "fun" Tuesday, Dec. 2 when they tangle with non-conference foes.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the debut of always-tough Romulus who will host Northwest Suburban Conference adversary, Livonia Franklin, at 8 p.m.

Coach Al Duva's Eagles, a perennial threat in that power-packed Twin Valley Conference (which also has Rouge, Ecorse, Willow Run and Hamtramack in it) never have been a pushover for anyone and is expected to again figure in the title race.

Franklin, however, under sophomore coach Bob Visser will be out to regain some of its lost cage glory - but it may find the going rough again, the Patriots lacking the luster veteran strength.

Glenn and Robichaud, underdogs in conference title races last year, may come to age this season. Both soph coaches Gordon Davis at Glenn, and Robichaud's Owen Sudman, have the talent to compete - and more important will have the height, where they were weak in the last campaign.

The two nonleague rivals clash Tuesday at the Dearborn Heights high school.

Height also will handicap Coach Billy Joe Young's Panthers who open up at Dearborn Edsel Ford Tuesday night against the T-Birds who are an able but erratic group.

Always respectable in basketball, East again will be playing under the shadows of Inkster who retains enough power and height to cause any title opportunist problems this season.

Coach George Thompson Jr., undefeated in the Mid-Wayne Conference last year and one game away (they lost to Rouge in the regionals) for what could have been a state "B" title, start their cage year with Ecorse, a week from Friday.

Rouge beat Inkster in the Regional playoffs and went in to capture the State "B" crown.

The Raiders will be visitors in that nonleague contest.

Second Juvenile Court, Youth Home Costs Aired

It would cost up to $11.6 million to build a second Juvenile Court and Youth Home west of Detroit, the Wayne County Board of Supervisors has been told.

Cost estimates were prepared at the request of the supervisors planning and capital improvement committee, headed by John Lesinski, of Dearborn, D-District 20.

The committee is studying the feasibility of duplicating the present Juvenile Court—Youth Home, which is located on Detroit's east side, with a facility on County-owned land across Michigan avenue from Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

PRELIMINARY PLANS propose a facility to house 160 boys and 80 girls, as does the present Youth Home, which has as many as 100 youngsters sleeping on floors due to overcrowding.

Edward J. Bresnahan, County superintendent, estimated the new facility would cost $10.1 million today and increase to $11.6 million by 1972. He reported that an additional maximum of $1,468,000 should be added for parking and building operation.

Bresnahan also recommended that the total figure for 1972 be increased by ten percent to provide a "cushion" for building expansion or inflation.

ALBERT J. ZAK, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, indicated recently that construction of an outcounty Juvenile Court—Youth Home would get top priority among the building needs of County departments.

Lesinski's committee also requested reports from County departments on the feasibility of joining the City of Detroit in applying for State recreation bond money for joint development of a 200-300 acre nature area in Rouge Park on Detroit's west side.

The Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation has proposed joint development of the project, with the County staffing the facility.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

Due to greatly increased postage costs, we find it necessary to adjust the mail subscription rates of our newspapers. For instance, it costs almost 12 times as much to mail a newspaper to a subscriber in California than it does to mail the same paper to a subscriber in Wayne County. Another postal rate increase will take effect January 1, 1970.

Our present mail subscription rates have been $4.00 per year in the state of Michigan, $4.00 per year to servicemen, and $5.00 per year to out-of-state subscribers.

Effective November 1, 1969, mail subscription rates will be adjusted as follows:

$4.00 per year in Michigan (no increase in price)

$5.00 per year to Servicemen (including Servicemen overseas)

$7.00 per year to out-of-state Subscribers

Out-of-state subscribers can renew their subscriptions at the old rate, (limit two years), if you mail in your payment before November 30, 1969.

We will continue our efforts to bring you bigger and better newspapers, and we appreciate the loyalty of our tens of thousands of paid subscribers.

Kelsey-Hayes Unit Expands

ROMULUS-The French & Hecht Division of Kelsey-Hayes Company located at Davenport, Iowa, is in the process of doubling its capacity to produce small rims and wheels from 8 to 20 inches in diameter.

At the same time, the division is expanding its capability to produce larger wheels and rims up to 50 inches in diameter and up to 30 inches wide. These developments were announced this week by D.O.H. Miller, general manager of the French & Hecht Division.

"WITH THIS expansion, we'll be able to produce wheels and rims in a full range of sizes for tractors, combines, self-propelled machinery and other farm and industrial equipment", Miller said.

The added capacity and capability, he said, also "will enable our division to better serve the rapidly growing market for recreational vehicles and lawn and garden equipment."

French & Hecht now manufactures wheels and rims up to 38 inches in diameter and up to 16 inches wide.

The new machinery that will make possible the larger sizes and double the capacity to produce the smaller ones will be operational early in 1970.

FOR 40 YEARS SERVICE

Helzerman to Be Honored By ESSA-Weather Bureau

The Environmental Science Services Administration ESSA-Weather Bureau will honor Stanley Helzerman of Willis, currently dean of Michigan's approximately 190 volunteer cooperative weather observers, for 40 years of faithful observations at Willis.

The Award will be presented as part of the evening meeting on Dec. 9, of the Southeast Michigan Chapter of the American Meteorological Society (SEMCAMS) at the University of Michigan.

Helzerman, actually began his service more than 40 years ago when during a visit to East Lansing he was asked to supply information on the progress and crop conditions in the Willis area.

This start in 1928 was the forerunner to the establishment of his climatological station in 1929, when during a second trip to East Lansing he secured a maximum and minimum thermometer and a standard rain gauge.

HE BUILT his own shelter to house the thermometers and began taking daily observations on Dec. 1, 1929.

Helzerman's efforts provide one of the few long-term climatological records available from a single location, free from the urban influences and exposure changes most records have undergone through the years. For this reason, the Willis record serves as a base from which to work when evaluating climatic change.

His interest in weather resulted in the purchase of a thermograph and barometers to supplement his standard equipment. When he talks about today's unusual weather events, he can cite facts and figures of early years to substantiate his claim.

Some of the extremes in weather contained in Helzerman's record include: temperature, highest 105 degrees on July 24, 1934; lowest 19 degrees below zero on Dec. 27, 1944; precipitation, greatest monthly, 8.26 inches in May, 1943; lowest monthly, 0.31 inches in December, 1958.

He notes that before he became a climatological observer, he unofficially recorded a lower temperature of 31 degrees below zero in 1928.

Helzerman's beginning as a climatological observer was not without its problems. The first day he took readings after setting up his new station, he broke the maximum thermometer and had to secure a second one. His luck with the minimum thermometer was much better-- it was used over 30 years before being retired.

In addition to the routine data, his reports contain many pertinent comments on crop conditions, severe weather and unusual weather, all of which add substantially to the value of his observations.

It is particularly appropriate to honor Helzerman for his length of service on the eve of 100 years of recognized weather services in the United States. 1970 will also be the observance for 50 years of service to the nation by the American Meteorological Society.

A hearty congratulation is hereby extended to Helzerman from all who have had the opportunity to know and work with him.

Scouts Need Site

ROMULUS—A new Boy Scout Troop currently in its organizational stages, is badly in need of a meeting place, it was disclosed.

The new troop will be mostly for boys in the Diamond Point and Emerald Green Subdivisions of Romulus Township where no Boy Scout Troop exists.

At an organizational meeting held two weeks, from 12 to 15 boys were signed up for the troop, Scoutmaster Charles Kline, of 30282 Cherry, announced.

Further programming requires a meeting place preferably in the vicinity of Eureka Road, between Middlebelt and Wayne Roads.

The nearest Boy Scout unit is located at the west end of the Township too far for the boys in the areas of the two subdivisions.

Any one interested in assisting the new troop in meeting this requirement are asked to call Kline at 941-5677.

Need For Vets Hospital Red Cross Volunteers is Cited

The American Red Cross is seeking volunteers who can spare a few hours each week to assist at Veterans Administration Hospital, Southfield and Outer Drive, Allen Park.

"We desperately need volunteers both men and women. There are a variety of interesting assignments open, so no matter where a person's talents or abilities lie, we probably have a job that will interest him," stated Donald

J. O'Connell (18994 Evergreen, Detroit), Red Cross volunteer representative at the hospital.

The most urgent volunteer needs are for people to feed patients between 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5:30 to 7 p.m., escorts for wheelchair patients on Tuesdays, Fridays and Sunday mornings for religious services, and medical office assistants during the week.

In addition, general volunteers are needed to assist patients in occupational and physical therapy and to serve as receptionists, file clerks, in-hospital messengers, librarians, recreation leaders and ward assistants.

"We can certainly use the help of any college students who are interested. A good assignment for them would be feeding patients at mealtimes," added O'Connell. "If necessary, we could provide a study area in the hospital for students to use between volunteer duties."

For additional information or to register as a volunteer, call the Red Cross office at Veterans Administration Hospital, 562-2828.

October Road Toll Over 200

Michigan traffic deaths for a sixth month in a row this year topped the 200 mark as 221 fatalities were recorded for October, State Police provisional figures showed.

The total was 25 or 10 per cent below the all-time high of 246 set in that month last year. The October average was 222 for the five years 1964-68. Low mark for the month was 97 in wartime 1944.

The October deaths raised the accumulated count for 10 months to 2,022 which was 83, or almost four per cent more than 1,939 in the same period in 1968.

With Michigan's accumulated count already over 2,000 it becomes the sixth year in a row and the ninth time since record keeping began in 1933 that road deaths have exceeded this level.

Yule Club Savings Hit Mark

Those tuneful chimes that will be sounding out all over America during the next few weeks won't be jingle bells—they'll be cash registers ringing as 16,015,000 (a record number) members of the country's largest club, Christmas Club, begin spending a good portion of their savings, $2,218,672,000 for a better Christmas for their families and loved ones.

This record amount is an average of $139 per member—the highest ever recorded according to Christmas Club a Corporation, the organization that originated the savings plan in 1910.

A survey of Christmas Club members shows that over $900,000,000 of the club savings will be spent on gifts and that more than half of the club members plan to start their shopping before Thanksgiving.

Based on their nationwide survey, Christmas Club a Corporation projects that almost a third of the total, or $665,600,000 will go right back into savings at over 10,000 banks and savings institutions who are now in the process of mailing checks to the members. The remainder will be used for such expenses as insurance, taxes, college tuition and winter vacations.

CPA Award Recipient Announced

YPSILANTI--The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accounts has announced that it had presented the Paton Award to Gary B. McCombs of Ypsilanti.

Examination papers are numbered and are graded in New York by certified graders who have no knowledge of the person involved.

MCCOMBS PLACED highest in the May, 1969 examination. In addition, he was a recipient of one of the 25 Elijah Watt Sells awards, also based on grades, but on a national rather than a Michigan competition.

He is an instructor in accounting at Eastern Michigan University. He and his wife, Kristi Lynn, live on North Washington Street, Ypsilanti.

JUNIORS FIND IT TOUGH MAKING THE GRADE

Here's ANP Prep Grid 'Jet Set'

RICK MUSSEHL
Belleville

The Associated Newspapers' All-Area Offensive Team - high school football's "jet set" - housed only one junior in its 1969 version of Who's Who.

And that "intruder" is none other than Garden City East's Bob Kleinbrook who made his way into the selected group with a key that had 15 TD's written on it.

It is the first time in many-a-year that most plaudits went out to seniors, who in recent seasons were forced to share honors with juniors and even sophomores.

Eleven of the 12 players selected for the team are seniors.

Leading that "jet set" is Wayne Memorial's quarterback Jim Green. You'll also find in that mythical backfield Franklin's Dan Thorpe; St. Mary's Dan Cesarz and of course, Kleinbrook.

Here are seven more reasons why you won't find the names of any junior or sophomore on the honorary ANP offensive string.

Yes, they're all college calibre material and coaches are eagerly eyeing these future prospects.

And, before papas, mamas and sweethearts and fans start picking because theirs didn't make the grade, read on and see what credentials these boys have:

Cesarz, voted best back in the Southwest Division of the Catholic League by seven of eight coaches, also earned a berth on the All-Catholic team. One of the best all-round players in the area, Cesarz led St. Mary's to a 6-1-1 season. He has been a regular on Coach Manny Lentine's team for the past four years and Dan has helped the Knights to a 28-3-2 mark.

Having to see double duty, Cesarz managed to score eight touchdowns; ran three extra points and booted two others. He also rushed for 805 yards, earning a 6-6 average for his attempts.

Aside from his offensive feats, Cesarz was called upon to help defensively where he accounted for 138 tackles in seven games. And in one of those battles he chalked up 26 solos for a new school record.

What does Dan Thorpe have to offer aside from his name? Well, the Franklin fullback was named to the Northwest Suburban Conference team, scoring seven touchdowns to guide the Pats to a 7-1 season.

A one-sport man, Thorpe has been the leading Patriot scorer for the past two seasons. He has only been in two losing games since making the varsity grade.

The rugged senior carried the ball 120 times this season and piled up 613 yards with his longest run at 51 yards. He snared 16 passes, two of which wound up as TD's.

"He's just one good boy to work with," said Coach Lovich of this good-looking lad.

Green's leadership, poise and passing acuity helped turn the tide at Wayne Memorial where they had previously been suffering a serious winning drought.

Though his team finished last in the league, Green's effectiveness at quarterback was recognized by rival coaches who gave him the nod over the other candidates as the All-Sauk Trail Conference QB.

"He's just a great passer, there's no doubt about it," said Coach Wayne Gorman who in his rookie year, emerged with a 4-4-1 record to break the spell of losing more than winning at Wayne. "He could pass deep, short, on the run and could easily loft that ball 40 to 45 yards."

Green showed his pinpoint accuracy, hitting on 45 percent of his tosses which led to 10 touchdowns and nearly 900 yards. He also was the Zebras' second best rusher.

How could the Establishment keep Kleinbrook off the team? Look at his accomplishments: 15 TD's plus over 900 yards rushing! And all of this compiled despite the fact he was sidelined for two games due to an injury.

Kleinbrook was the mainstay of Coach Gary Humphrey's attack - which not only dethroned Riverview but lifted the Panthers to their first Mid-Wayne Conference football championship.

"He's an outstanding player with great balance," says the East coach. "We have watched him after film and every time we are amazed at this kid's balance."

"They hit him and he shows unbelievable ability to stay on his feet."

Kleinbrook will be around for another year to plague Panther rivals.

Drafted to protect that priceless backfield is an all-senior line headed by Rick "Big Cat" Mussehl, Belleville's "still growing 6-foot-5, 205-pound guard".

Only 16, (he was double promoted once-upon-a-time and don't think Coach Jim Richendollar isn't mad about that) Mussehl is considered the best college prospect since Frank Nunley (a former Belleville griddle who went on to become an All-Big Ten linebacker and who is presently playing with the 49ers).

Several colleges have inquired about Mussehl who moves with good speed and quickness.

THE SPORTS MERIDIAN

By Tom Mooradian

Of Little and Big Leaguers

He's a robust, jolly figure, as witty (and scheming) as the Bard's Falstaff. He also led the Panel of Experts, that scholarly group which guessed the outcome of the high school football game each week for the past nine weeks.

He's Fred Hodges, who, among other things is also a little league coach in Garden City.

And Hodges, like many other thousand male species, is stuck on football. He has been a part of the fall grid scene as "long as he can remember, first as a player, then as a Little League coach", then as an assistant coach to Tony Versaci at Divine Child.

Little League, using a simile is the public junior high and high school program what the CYO is to the Catholic system, says Hodges, then added "Little leaguers who stick with the program have a head start to mature into the best junior high, high school and college prospects, and you don't have to linger on the subject to find out why."

"They have the experience, and that's what coaches need to mold their teams," Hodges said. "The failure to produce winners in high schools is the failure of setting up sound Little League programs in a community."

He tossed out names like Gary Danielson, Ted Grignon, Nick Ross, Phil Bayster, Bob Kalbfleish to support his argument. These boys are products of Little League organizations in Dearborn and who have carved names for themselves in colleges.

Hodges' team compiled an awesome 43-4-2 record in Dearborn.

Small Stars Become Big Stars

Can Garden City expect the same results from Hodges' teams and players that they accomplished while he was coaching the T-Birds of Dearborn?

"Hold on, there," Hodges quickly said. "Not so fast these boys would have starred for any coach. And I am not saying all Little Leaguers will become future high school stars."

"What I am saying, is the opportunity is there to compete, and to gain a strong foundation."

"And the guy who gets the youngsters started plays a big role. The Garden City Little League organization is an excellent one and I'm proud to be a part of it, and I hope I can make some sort of contribution to the program."

What did Hodges accomplish in Dearborn before "retiring". Well, in the five-years as a Little League coach, his teams lost only four games. His players went on to become stars for Divine Child and Edsel Ford.

Danielson was selected as a All State quarterback after leading Versaci's Falcons to their second straight Catholic League and Detroit City titles last year; Grignon went on to star for Western Michigan University; DeOrio is one of the top rushers for the Air Force Academy while Ross and Gary Taylor turned their grid talents to baseball and are presently in the Detroit Tigers' system.

Wives Get Their Kicks From Football

From the T. Birds Hodges went to Divine Child for three seasons. He led the JV's to a 16-game-winning streak that included two championships.

Versaci called him up to the Varsity his last year at D.C.

Hodges is well-qualified to teach youngsters the manly art of football. He was an ALL-CITY griddle in Detroit while playing for Redford High, where he was tutored by the late Frank Hojancki.

He continued to play ball in the U.S. Army in the early 50's (Continued on 2nd Sports)

Lentine, Lovich Earn Coach of Year Honor

Two coaches - one who just rounded out his 19th season as head football coach at St. Mary's of Wayne, the other who completed his sophomore coaching tenure at Livonia Franklin have earned the Associated Newspapers' "Coach of the Year" plaudits.

Neither veteran coach Manny Lentine nor second-year coach George Lovich were supposed to have title contenders in the 1969 season, but both men surprised their rivals.

Stricken by graduation, Lentine patched up his Blue Knights and guided them to a 6-1-1 campaign which included the runnerup berth in the Second Division Southwest Catholic League.

St. Mary's also posted a victory over nonleague rivals, Mt. Clemens St. Louis, ranked fifth in the State Class D polls.

Coach Lovich duplicated his rookie year record of 7-1 and in two seasons has compiled a 14-2 overall mark. His only loss of the recently completed campaign was to Thurston, the Northwest Suburban Conference champ, which finished the year with a perfect 8-0 record and sixth place in the Class A ratings.

And the astonishing thing about Lovich's accomplishment is that he made a contender out of a team which had only three - yes - three veterans in its lineup.

Lentine, a graduate of St. Catherine's of Detroit, is the dean of area high school coaches. At 46, he has formulated a philosophy which he passes on to student and athlete alike, that of "learning by experience."

"I don't want to be 'cliche-ish' he says, 'but experience is the best teacher. And you learn by doing - not wishful thinking. If you're going to play football, then play football - and if you want to paint, then paint.'"

All-Area Steals Franklin Defense

When the name of the game is defense you look for teams whose players made their name on defense. And defense was Livonia Franklin's forte this season, so the ANP "stole" three players from the Pats to form the nucleus of the All-Area defense.

Coach George Lovich's Patriots rode to a 7-1 season thanks to their impregnable defense which pulled Franklin out of trouble more than once in a season which many thought would be, "ho-hum" for the Livonia aggregation.

Defense made the difference.

Drafted to the ANP's a All-Area Defensive Team from Livonia are linebacker Mike Jinnett; end Rob Hollandsworth and safety Jeff Kind.

The trio are joined by

Belleville's outstanding middle guard Jim Singleton; junior tackle Mark Pellecchia; Wayne Memorial's tackle Bill Hood; East end George Bednorek; Cherry Hill

Glenn's versatile cornerback Garry Schleicher; Inkster Darryl Burroughs and St. Mary's Dave Conlin.

Hollandsworth is one of three juniors who made the grade as he played a key role in Franklin's success story. Earning a varsity letter as a

An unanimous choice both on defense and offense for All-Suburban Six Conference honors, the "Big Cat" as he is called by his teammates, has earned two varsity stripes.

know her) also have a large family - nine; five girls and four boys.

No wonder there's never any booing of Lentine - most of the fans are his relatives.

When will Manny hang up his coaching jersey?

"That's a good question?" says Lentine. "But I don't know the answer."

Lovich, at 32, has matured into one of the most promising coaches in the area. A graduate of California State College where he took his Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Arts (he also holds a masters in IA from EMU), Lovich carried on Franklin's winning tradition, despite the skeptics who believed that this was to be the year of the Patriot's downfall.

A strict disciplinarian who played end and linebacker while at Monessen, Penn., High where he prepped, the Franklin coach shifted his thoughts to defense this season when he saw that he had three veterans back in his lineup.

Defense carried the Patriots to a sparkling season. "Our kids like to hit," said Coach Lovich. "That fact plus a record turnout of gridders did the trick for us."

In Franklin's defensive network moreover were several students who had either all "A" or "A" minus grades.

"When you get a combination of an outstanding student and athlete, you have a winning combination. We had several athletes who also excelled academically, and that just made it easier for us," said Coach Lovich.

It won't, however, be any easier to get at the Patriots next year - Coach Lovich has most of his team returning for the 1970 campaign.

John Benn, the lone representative from Coach Bob Draheim's Tigers. Though first year Coach had more than his share of problems trying to win games this season, one could only speculate what would have happened to the Tigers without Benn's efforts, who did about everything for his team.

"He is the best linesman I have ever coached," said Draheim, which says a lot considering the West coach has had some outstanding years at Flint Central and Wyandotte.

Also a two-stripe grid letterwinner, Benn played over an injury and moonlighted on defense. He accounted for 84 solo tackles, nine per game.

The ANP transplanted the "heart of the East team" - Gerry Wright and tied it with the soul of St. Mary's line - Mike Jajuga - to come up with two "perfect" tackles.

Wright's desire and his quality to instill his teammates earned for him co-captain duties on East's championship team. Though his team lost its first two nonleague games, Wright provided that competitive atmosphere and winning spirit which kept the Panthers going.

He played on bad ankles all season," said Coach Lentine. "And you still couldn't stop him. I know we would not have done as well as we did this year without Mike."

The center of attraction is George Ross who also attracted enough attention in the Northwest Suburban Conference to be chosen that league's first string center. When you realize that powerhouses like Thurston, Franklin and N. Farmington are packed in that league, Ross had to be good!

A second year varsity man on Coach Bob Lusk's team, Ross also is considered one of the best blocking centers ever produced by the school.

Ross' teammate Mark Magee and Inkster's galloping speedster Dennis Rogers hold down the end posts. With sure hands, Magee also can provide that explosive ANP backfield with any blocking it would need. He was a specialist in leading the way.

Magee hauled in three TD passes as is dangerous on the short-passing patterns used so effectively by Glenn.

At 6-1, 195, Inkster's Rogers teamed up with southpaw quarterback Darryl Burroughs to generate a passing assault which was second to none in this area.

Fast and elusive, Rogers caught six TD passes though he was double-teamed most of the way. And, if the pass was anywhere near this speedster, you could depend on his large and sure hands for the completion.

He turned the tide to what could have been a disastrous year for the Panthers.

"He gives you 100 percent and never lets you down, that's the kind of boy he is," said Coach Humphrey. "And that's the type of player coaches need to produce winners."

Cesarz's success leads right to Jajuga who provided the holes and the key blocks for his teammate. Though he was out his entire junior year because of a foot injury (he had broken four toes), Jajuga showed his determination to regain his starting berth with sheer guts.

and when he mustered out of the service, Fred helped organize the Little League program in Dearborn.

"In our Little League program we want our kids to win but it is not a win at all cost type of thing," he said. "Our kids all play in each half of every game."

But there is no "Dr. Spock" in Fred Hodges.

He is a strict disciplinarian, a person who believes each boy (or girl) should use 100% of any talent he was given whether it be in school, or on the job or organized sports.

Married to Donna, the Hodges have three girls and one boy, Ken, a "65 lb. corner back" for the Little League Tigers.

And what does Mrs. Hodges have to say about her husband's "autumn-to-November" illness?

She referred us to an article in a metro newspaper which quoted another coach's wife, Mrs. Woody Hayes, whose husband, for the few who don't know, is the Ohio State terror that has guided his team to the No. 1 spot in the nation for the last two years.

"Do you recall that article?" she asked. "If not I'd send you a copy of the story!"

Never mind, Mrs. Hodges, Isn't that the one Mrs. Woody calls hubby a sort of "fathead"?

Atmosphere in a Room Depends On Wall Themes

Rooms have a right to be moody. And, by the same token, there's no rule against experimenting with various colors and tones, textures and lighting effects to create special roomwide atmospheres.

dream up a possible scheme, and then experiment with bits of fabric, color patches and building material samples to create rooms with personality, mood and atmosphere.

"If a room's to be played in, make it a fun crazy room. On the other hand, if ladies will sit on Victorian chairs and sip tea in a room, that room should have a formal atmosphere," Mrs. Fischer stresses.

A room that's to convey a feeling that's bright, youthful and cheery calls for plenty of color against a light background. Danish modern furniture or other furnishings that have smooth lines and utilize man-made materials such as glass, plastic, chrome and steel are right at home in this atmosphere, the Abitibi decorating consultant says.

Bright, opsy flowers and splashy prints can be a real asset to this mood-setting scheme. Many times an attic find of traditional furniture can be enlivened with cheerful upholstery. Exotic area rugs add color and texture to this most youthful of rooms. Walls paneled with Colonial birch, white woodgrains, or teak hardwood or plywood panels are ideal for the bright, young effect.

Warm golds, yellows and oranges are key colors in any room that's to be cozy. "I think for the coziest rooms of all are those that take their decorating key from American Colonial days,"

Mrs. Fischer says, adding that cherry or maple wall paneling does half the mood-setting job here.

"In almost every room, walls take up more space than any other element. Although they will not often be the major focal point of the decor, they can do more than most people would guess in helping a room develop the desired atmosphere or mood," Mrs. Fischer points out.

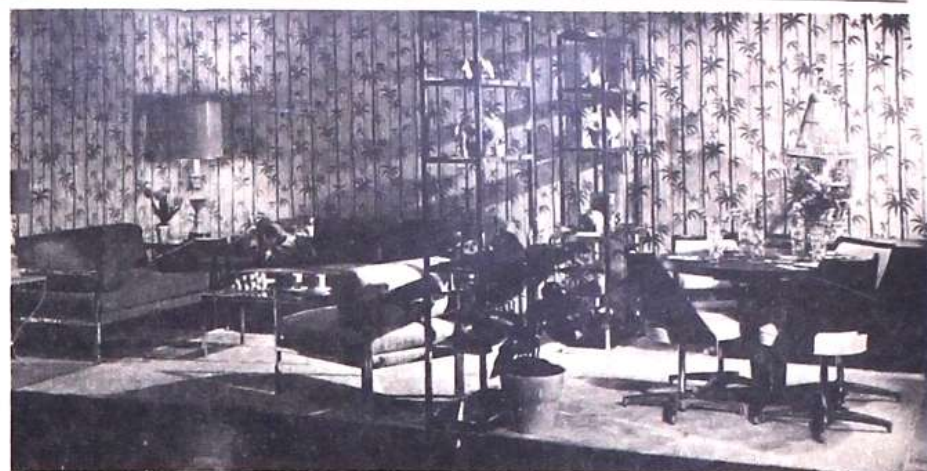

Citing examples, the Abitibi decorating consultant notes that the cool tones of silver ash, a new peacock panel and several new avocado, Corsican, and olive green wood-grained wall panels form an easy-eye background for a room that is to have a soft or mellow look. For formal rooms, rich walnut panels and showy pecan panels provide a wall covering that harmonizes well with traditional furnishings and adds interest to walls that might otherwise have gone clad in merely a coat of paint.

"Drama begins on the walls of a room," Mrs. Fischer asserts. "In creating a truly dramatic room, homemakers would do well to consider the walls a major factor. Among the truly exciting new wall developments has been the recent introduction of red wood-grained panels that contrast strikingly with dramatic Spanish or Oriental furnishings."

Walls go wild in fun crazy rooms. Alternate contrasting panels for a striped effect or put different colored panels on each of the room's four walls.

"Whatever you choose, don't let your rooms sit lifeless. Make them moody, and let that big wall area help you," Mrs. Fischer advises.

For full information about the many hardboard and plywood wall panels available contact Abitibi Corporation, 1400 North Woodward Avenue, Birmingham, Michigan 48011.

A COMPLETE one-room apartment is depicted in this "America at Home" setting from Burton-Dixie. Aluminum strips frame sleeper-sofas and chairs in living area and serve as room dividers. Created by Betty Kearns and on display at the American Furniture Mart.

Easy to Care for, Finished Wall Panels

When the baby food hits the wall or a joggled elbow sends dribbles of coffee floorward, it's too late to worry about clean and stain-free walls.

That worry should have been calmed long before the housewarming-back when the decision on wall coverings was made. With a wise choice, today's homemaker can be assured of worry-free wall care, according to Abitibi Corporation, manufacturer of pre-finished wall paneling.

Among the best minimum effort wall coverings available today is the group of decorative vinyl-and plastic-coated panels of hardboard and plywood. The easy-care coating protects woodgrained finishes that run the decorative gamut from walnut to fiesta red. They are designed to resist the scars, mars, stains, and smudges that signal the death of less durable wall coverings.

To retain the like-new look of warm wood-grained luxury, made possible by these panels, Abitibi Corporation offers these easy cleaning instructions.

Wall paneling should be cleaned every six months, usually in the spring and fall along with the regular top-to-bottom house cleaning.

Abitibi advises that for best results, use a mild soap and lukewarm water solution. A gentle soap, such as Murphy's Oil Soap, available at most hardware stores is extremely effective. The solution can be applied to the panel with a clean rag or sponge. Because the panels will not streak, the washing can go from side to side, up and down, or circles. After the wall is washed, it should be wiped dry with a clean cloth.

Abitibi, who guarantees the life of its panels for the life of the home, warns homemakers to never wax, shellac or varnish these vinyl-coated or pre-finished panels. Doing so has a tendency to change the panel's color and affect the color tone and grain fidelity.

Abrasive cleaners should never be used on wall paneling even to remove hardened gum or grease in kitchen areas. For a tough looking cleaning job, add a solution of any good household detergent to the wash water.

For nail holes or deep gouges on the panel's surface, rub the marred area gently with a putty stick. Putty sticks are inexpensive and come in a wide variety of wood tones.

For information about the wide variety of vinyl- and plastic-coated panels from Abitibi, write to Abitibi Corporation, 1400 North Woodward Avenue, Birmingham, Michigan 48011.

THIS INVITING GAME ROOM, designed by George Branson, NSID, for Flexsteel Furniture Industries, combines Early American and modern styling to the best advantage. Room features a "bi-low" table, adjustable in height to suit dining or game needs, and a full-sized Yorktown billiard table. Sofa's upholstery fabric is repeated on door panels to give room a co-ordinated look.

Early American Home Needs Warm Woodtones

When coziness and informality are key decorating goals, rooms go together easily.

roomwide glow that played upon the walls of early American homes.

Once the walls are on the right track, the wise homemaker will work to make fabric and furniture selections that will further help bring back the historic past. "Choose warm colors," Abitibi Decorating Consultant Caroline Fischer suggests to homemakers. "Yellow, brown, and copper can be your most effective colors when you are working on an early American theme."

"Don't forget the decorating charm of metal either as you work up your scheme. Pewter and copper accessory items can provide eye-catching accents to your room," Mrs. Fischer points out.

She also advises homemakers who have chosen to simulate an early American scene in their homes to keep things simple and informal. "Remember that your goal is to create a rather rustic relaxed room," she said.

As an added decorative feature for early American rooms, there are now decorative vinyl-clad hardboard panels designed specifically to carry out the early American theme. These panels, Gold and Copper Americana, by Abitibi Corporation, carry a pattern which features old time sailing ships, liberty bells, spinning wheels, and eagles that bring back memories of yesteryear.

These decorative panels are particularly effective when combined with a dado of woodgrained paneling in such areas as the kitchen or the recreation room. Matching moldings, either in the woodgrain or in the Americana design, complete the early American wall covering picture.

The tough, mar-resistant finish on both the decorative vinyl-clad panels and woodgrained hardboard panels make these panels ideal for homes where young children's activities could pose a threat to a less durable wall.

For more information about these panels and the many other decorative hardboard and plywood paneling choices available to today's homemaker, write to Abitibi Corporation, 1400 North Woodward Avenue, Birmingham, Michigan 48011.

'Cat' is Unbelievable at Bonstelle

By HOWARD ALLEN
ANP Amusement Critic

The Wayne State University Bonstelle Theatre has revived Tennessee Williams again with a chaotic production of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." When Williams is not done properly, he's almost unbelievable. He has thrown everything from homosexuality to cannibalism at his audiences and, understandably, uncautious productions do not always seem too realistic.

Bonstelle's "Cat" shares that measure of incredulity. When those five infernal children run screaming across the stage for the umpteenth time, giving the audience Excedrin headache no. 73, one begins to suspect a reason why Brick doesn't want to sleep with his wife which may not have occurred to the author.

Director Don Blakely exhibits little feeling for his material but, fortunately, some of his actors do. Nancy Linehan is exceptional as Maggie the Cat and Frank Bennet scores well as Big Daddy. Leonard R. Skwarek is adequate as Brick and the talent trails off from there. Beverly Markowitz is never completely comfortable as the coy Big Mama and Gail Larkin is completely insipid as Mae.

Constant changes of tempo left the audience somewhat indifferent as to Big Daddy's plight with Cancer, Mae and Goobers' passionate concern for his money, Brick's anguish over the death of his gay friend and Maggie's frustrations in warming the bed.

As Big Daddy observes, there seems to be a little mendacity up on the stage.

Shipstads and Johnson's Ice Follies is by now the most traditional of the ice shows. The Ice Capades is in a transitory stage but the Follies delight in the old and familiar. For how many years has Mr. Frick done his Alpine soldier routine, how long has Inky Dinky been taking the kids for ice rides, the Beattys been burlesquing ballroom skating, and Richard Dwyer been handing flowers to a matron in the audience?

If you think the Ice Capades should have the show down pat by now, they do. It goes smoothly and confidently, with the audiences laughing in the right places and applauding in the right places. This year's spectacles include a show motif, a Latin number, an underwater scene and an Indian routine.

Peggy Fleming, who last year eschewed the spectacular in favor of the difficult, has learned her lesson well and this year merits her star billing with a thoroughly colorful routine. However, she shouldn't use her own director; the show's talent knows the needs of the ice show, well and her first turn on the ice is too pretentious. Her second set is more satisfying.

Has anyone noticed that we're being plagued by Alices on the screen these days? There's "Alice B. Toklas," "Alice's Restaurant," "Ted and Alice" and now "What Ever Happened to Aunt Alice?" Well, you can worry about the significance of all this if you choose; I'm not going to.

What did happen to Aunt Alice (Ruth Gordon) is that she got a job working for batty old Geraldine Page whose pleasure in bossing housekeepers is exceeded only by her delight in bumping them off for their savings and burying them in her garden for fertilizer. When one housekeeper, Mildred Dunnoch, vanishes, Miss Gordon, her former employer, poses as a housekeeper to find out what happened to her. And the unions would have you believe that employers don't care any more.

The Misses Page and Gordon act away in high style but that's all the picture is—style. No plot. What emerges is a curio collection of meaningless devices, like a wheelchair which hangs around for a couple of scenes without any mention of why it's needed. This is a horror film without enough horror to keep an insomniac awake.

HOLIDAYS AT HUDSON'S

Department stores traditionally dress up for the holiday season and Hudson's this year has put on a bit of twinkle and shine for the occasion.

It shows up most readily in the display which leads to the visit with Santa Claus. "Santa's Magic Ornament" is a walk-through decoration which touches a child's senses of sight, sound, smell in an exciting way.

While waiting to see Santa, children will walk beneath a ceiling of ornaments, then through a room of silvery reflections, on to a room that twinkles in lights. There's music all around. Next is a Christmas scene which includes a popcorn-decorated tree and popcorn snow (sniff when you go by). Then they go through a passageway of polka dot colors which includes vignettes of Elmo the Elf making ornaments, past a traditional tree-and-presents scene and in to see Santa.

Until Thanksgiving Day Santa can be seen and heard via the magic ornament which shows him talking from the North Pole. Santa shows up in Detroit in person on Thanksgiving Day in the parade and will be available for private consultation starting November 28 on Hudson's 12th floor.

DISNEY ON ICE

Mickey Mouse is coming to Olympia.
And so are Donald Duck, Goofy, Snow White, Dumbo and many other Walt Disney creations.

Patterned after the late Disney's idea of providing high-level family entertainment, "Disney on Parade," a new concept featuring scores of his best-loved and well-known characters, will appear at the Olympia Stadium for nine performances from Wednesday, Jan. 7, 1970, to Sunday, Jan. 11.

The Wednesday (Jan. 7) and Thursday performances at Olympia will begin at 7 p.m.; Friday's show starts at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. Performances on Saturday are at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.; Sundays shows are at 2 and 6 p.m.

A hospital-based child guidance clinic will be established at Seaway Hospital, a unit of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA).

First of its kind in this section of Michigan, the decision to house the Downriver Child Guidance Clinic at Seaway was made at the November meeting of the PCHA Board of Directors. Only one other similarly hospital-related clinic exists in the State.

Recommendation to the PCHA directors that $16,000 be appropriated to convert space at Seaway to offices for the clinic was moved by Kenneth L. Murray of Westland and supported by John Trelley of Trenton.

"It is hard to be anything less than thrilled by the unanimous decision by the directors to co-operate with the Downriver Child Guidance Clinic in this project," said Donald J. Pizzimenti, PCHA chairman. Pizzimenti called the action "a vital step in the direction of providing comprehensive health care for PCHA communities."

Now; A Brand New Capitol Enters

By DON HOENSHELL
PANAX staff writer
Third in a series of three

LANSING—Michigan's tax-shy government today started a massive public sales job on a new $45 million state capitol to replace the present domed firetrap which is crumbling at its base.

Lawmakers have already appropriated $6,970,000 for its construction and Gov. Milliken was asked if this committed the state.

"It does, it does, and I have no illusions whatever about that, and that is my intention (to build the capitol)," he said.

Politicians fear retaliation at the polls for spending $45 million at a time when school financial crises are bringing demands that the new sales tax be raised to foot the state's bills.

They make these points:

* Major state programs, such as education and mental health, will not suffer, pointing to a $20 million new basic science building at Wayne State University, a $30 million medical clinic building, and five new hospitals for mentally retarded children.

* The present building is condemned and dangerous to officials, state employees and to the public, and esthetically

Yeager Picks Up Support

DETROIT—The Chairman of the 17th Congressional District Republican Organization in Northwest Detroit, Denzil Hammond, announced that the District Board had unanimously voted to endorse State Representative Weldon O. Yeager (R-Detroit) as a candidate for Secretary of State for the State Republican Convention in August of 1970.

is "a bad copy of the Renaissance period, which itself copied something else."

* The $13 million cost of renovating the present capitol would be money down the drain since the result would be inadequate for the times and government would be dislocated into inadequate quarters for five years—at a cost of $5 million more.

* State government is presently paying $1.2 million a year to private landlords in Lansing for space for executive departments. These functions would be housed in the new complex which would include the capitol.

* The final design—which has raised most public objections—is not yet final.

"We have three years before we have to make that one," said Engineer William C. Roege, building consultant to the Legislative Fiscal Agency. "Actually, there are five years of decisions ahead."

The concern is bipartisan.

"We've made a very comprehensive study and have spent 3,000 hours in committee and we've been firmly convinced that in the best interests of the people of Michigan—and conscious of the economic factors involved—that a new capitol should be built at the earliest possible time," said Senator Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor).

"We could put up a warehouse for $12 or $15 a square foot with air-conditioning that would be better than we have now," said Senator Garland Lane (D-Flint). "But the people wouldn't stand for it. We'd be the laughing-stock of the world."

Lane, chairman, and Zollar, a member of the capital outlay subcommittee which revived plans for a capitol years ago, smart under public attacks that they are building it as a monument to themselves.

"If you want to build a monument to us, make it the program of building hospitals for the mentally retarded," Lane said.

Pockets of bitter opposition have developed in the legislature. Rep. Thomas Brown (R-Lansing) attacks the cost and the prospect of moving the site two blocks west away from the business district.

Lane attributes this opposition to the views of Howard J. Stoddard, president of the Michigan National Bank. Lane said there is more local buying power in the huge state office buildings already built west of the site.

Michigan's legal commitment is to cluster three buildings, one for the legislature, one for the Michigan Supreme Court and the third for the governor's executive office complex.

There will be two levels of parking under the entire plaza for 1,250 cars, below-surface offices for all branches of government and one reserved floor for inter-branch communications.

Basically, it proposes a seven-level structure. There will be vehicle access below the main plaza, which will also contain public service facilities and the state law library.

The second level will have offices and related spaces for legislators and members of the other two branches. Landscaped courtyards will provide light to these areas.

The House and Senate will be on the third level.

The largest of the three above-ground buildings will be for the legislature and its 148 members, service bureaus and staff.

Records show that the site is the same selected for the capitol in a 1912 master plan for the city of Lansing and repeated in 1921. The late former Senator James Milliken, father of the present governor, took the Senate floor to urge a new capitol 25 years ago.

Lane found yellowed documents showing that the federal government ceded to the state vast acres in downtown Lansing when Michigan became a state.

"Some foolish legislators of the day sold it and now we're paying the big price for the same land they sold for peanuts," said Lane.

Two major committees are working on the plans and have for months and years. They are Lane's capital outlay group and Milliken's "Committee of 21" created by the enabling bill last year.

Lane's committee has Zollar, Senators Milton Zaagman (R-Grand Rapids), and John F. Toepp (R-Traverse City) and Reps. William R. Copeland (D-Wyandotte), Russell R. Hellman (D-Dollar Bay), James S. Farnsworth (R-Plainwell) and Thomas G. Ford Sr. (R-Grand Rapids).

Milliken's group has all of Lane's group, plus Senator Jerome T. Hart (D-Saginaw), Rep. J. Robert Traxler (D-Bay City), and 10 outstanding citizen architects, artists, and businessmen.

Lane said the desperate conditions of the present capitol surfaced early in the study of both groups. Some employees, he said, were kicking out subbasement support posts, letting the building sag.

The need was established three years ago, he said. Former Gov. Romney first insisted on using the present site, but changed his mind when "he was convinced it was impossible."

But the demand for parking space from former automobile executive Romney and the three-branch cluster will bear his mark.

The committees considered buying the Lansing Civic Center, but the city's price—enough to build the city a new one at present costs—was exorbitant, both groups decided.

"We even considered a nearby school building, as inadequate as it was," said Lane.

Design ideas poured in. They included cube shapes, inverted pyramids, architecture patterned after the United Nations building, and versions of capitol over the world.

Budget Director Glenn C. Allen, confidante of Milliken and former Mayor of Kalamazoo, said the enabling bill instructed the Committee of 21 to develop a plan a capitol to "assure esthetic and artistic excellence, utilizing the existing schematic plan."

There was fear that President Nixon's cutback on federal building would splash over to state construction as an inflation depressant. Lane and others said the order applies only to federal projects—but apparently not to the $72 million repair job on the nation's capitol.

Hellman, the Upper

Peninsula's voice on both groups, said:

"Definitely, we need better operating facilities. This present building is condemned and old and impossible to make efficient."

From another part of the state, Rep. Vincent J. Petitpre (D-Westland), said:

"I think future generations will need much more than we have here, and we can't give it to them unless we start now."

Ground will be broken in June for the new capitol. Lansing already is letting contracts to detour a sewer main around the site. The design controversy goes on.

"It has to be monumental, the seat of government," said Roege. "We're going to make it as modern as we can, including the equipment that will make a better government—computers and electronic equipment."

"We're going ahead with it. We've gone too far to turn back now."

Building Director A.N. Langius paid tribute to former GOP Gov. Harry F. Kelly, now a Supreme Court Justice, and former Lt. Gov. Vernon Brown. They ordered all other state properties brought up to date before considering a new capitol.

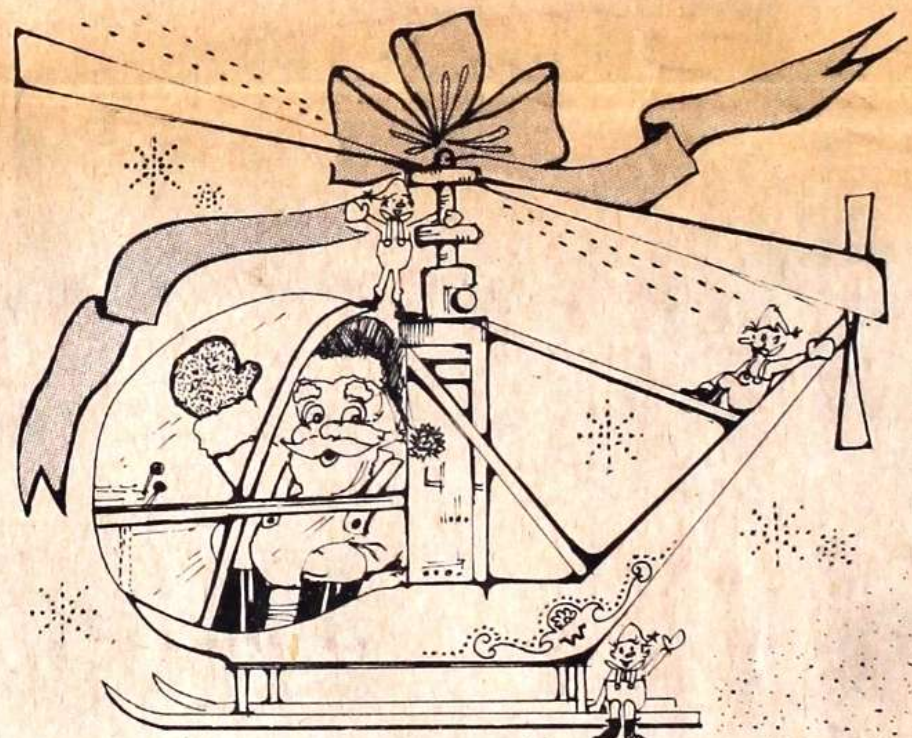

Hospitals, colleges, prisons, and other vital functions of government were given priorities.

On the design, Langius has no nostalgia for a dome. He said they were first designed for the cathedrals of Europe as symbolic of the religious life and were placed high above the altars. He contends a spire or pylon could be used more effectively in this era. But he has an open mind.

"I think the legislature owes more to the people than a frugally balanced budget," he said. "The people also deserve a government of efficiency, a capitol of beauty and dignity and inspiration."

"It will be a capitol for the people."
